

KPH Marine Radio Historical Society

Earlier this year the CARS group trekked out to Point Reyes to visit Marine station KPH, and the staff gave us an excellent tour of it's radio history. This Saturday August 30th at the MHRS brings back the days of WWII when messages were passed via Morse Code. The Engima machine was a code that Nazi Germany used to pass secret messages to various parts of Europe and Northern Africa. The allies had the daunting task of breaking this code, eventually they did.

Use your imagination once again to be that secret agent, click on the Link above to find out more information on your mission. GUD LUK!

Crypto messages from KPH begin Saturday August 30, 2025@2000Z
