

WB6T0U-11 Survives The Night

✖ The high altitude balloon continues its travels, as the sun arose the solar panels began to generate power ,so the aprs transmitter can continue to report in. Following the jet stream, the balloon picked up speed and currently traveling at 61 mph, on course to pass near Grand Forks North Dakota. Currently maintaining altitude with a atmospheric temperature of -10 to -17 Deg C